www.uncool.ch

NICOLE ZARAY synthesizer, piano, voice, field recordings

A one-woman-band of sorts, Nicole will play both synths and piano, while singing live and layering her voice live, intertwining the piano with her own retro synth sounds and samples taken from the streets of NYC during 2020. Her songs' lyrics cover factual changes in climate and local economies and their personal manifestations.

Nicole's solo work has been commissioned by Roulette and Performance Space 122 in NYC. She has performed all over Europe; most recently a music/video/dance piece in residency at Lake Studios in Berlin. She was the lead actor in the eclectic scifi indie film "Sticky Fingers of Time", which premiered at the Venice Biennale, and was guest vocalist on several of Moby's albums, including "Next is the E". She will be performing at the West Chelsea Festival of Art in NYC in December.
